

1000 MIGLIA 2023 LIST OF ACCEPTED CARS PUBLISHED

Brescia, 3 April 2023 - At the end of the Selection Committee's work that scrupulously examined each of the applications received, the list of the 405 cars accepted for the 1000 Miglia, which will start on 13 June, is now official. There will be 74 cars that took part in the 1000 Miglia race held between 1927 and 1957.

Scrolling down the list, alongside Alfa Romeo, which will line up 47 cars, some models of the finest craftsmanship of the 1940s (O.S.F.A., Ermini, Stanguellini, Moretti, Paganelli, Gilco and Bandini) and a rare 1929 Itala are worth mentioning. In addition to the group of powerful custom-built cars such as Bugatti, Ferrari, Maserati, Mercedes-Benz and O.S.C.A., models of small cars such as Goliath, Fiat and Renault will also take part.

Challenging the Vesco-Salvinelli crew, in the hunt for their third consecutive win as a pair after their victories in 2021 and 2022, will be drivers of the calibre of Belometti with Bergomi and Turelli with Turelli (second and third in 2022), Luca Patron, Aliverti with Valente, Fontanella with Covelli, Sisti with Gualandi as well as Matteo Belotti, winner of the 2023 Coppa delle Alpi. Franco Gussalli Beretta, President of Confindustria Brescia, will also take the wheel again, competing with his son Carlo, and Roberto Rollino, former winner of the 1000 Miglia in 1988, driving the 1100 S-Gobbone in which his father competed in 1948.

The largest group of participants from abroad includes 121 from the Netherlands, followed by the USA with 65, Germany with 59, Belgium with 55 and the United Kingdom with 51.

It will be a 1000 Miglia of unprecedented length and, as in 47-48, will reach Piedmont: five days and over 2000 km with legs finishing in Cervia-Milano Marittima, Rome, Parma and Milan. To mark the Centenary of the Italian Air Force, a symbolic place will be included in each of the race days: the Ghedi Airbase, the airports of Pisignano and Piacenza San Damiano, the Air Force Historical Museum in Vigna di Valle and the 1st Air Region Command in Milan.

The Red Arrow will be accompanied again this year by the 1000 Miglia Green, the Ferrari Tribute and the Supercars of the 1000 Miglia Experience, and there will be important novelties.

The list of accepted cars, which as a guarantee of excellence and authenticity must be registered with the Registro 1000 Miglia, is available on the official website 1000miglia.it.
